Dürrnbachhorn lift car park - forest road - Dürrnbachalmen - trampling path - Dürrnbacheck mountain station - Dürrnbachhorn summit - ridge hike - Heutal lift station - Finsterbachalm - Dürrnbachhorn lift car park

Starting from the car park at the Dürrnbachhorn lift, hike up the paved road to the left, leaving the chair lift behind you (path no. 12). At the end of the paved road is the Dürrnbachalmen area. A little before the barracks, a narrow mountain trail branches off to the right from the tarred road to the Dürrnbachhorn. A look back opens up a view of the Steinplatte and the Kaiser Mountains.

The beaten path leads steeply under the chair lift up to the mountain station on Dürrnbacheck with a panoramic inn. From here it goes over very steep steps, some of which are very high, cut into the ground and reinforced with wooden planks, to the summit. On the Dürrnbachhorn, a 360-degree view is rewarding for the arduous ascent. In the valley you can see the Weitsee, behind it the mountains of the Chiemgauer Voralpen, in the east the limestones of the Berchtesgaden Alps with the Watzmann, in the west the Kaiser mountains, in the south the Loferer Steinberge and the Hohe Tauern and so to speak in front of your feet the Winklmoosalm.

From here, between mountain pines, continue along the ridge on a very narrow path. At the end of the ridge you reach the foothills of the Gimplingsattels and follow path no. 17 towards Finsterbachalm / Wildalm / Heutal right downhill. This path leads past the Heutal lift station. At the fork here, continue to the right. The forest becomes thicker and it goes downhill more shady on a washed-out path.

The forest soon opens up, the hiker enters a wide alpine pasture, at the end of which is the managed Finsterbachalm . After the Alm you take a very wide, paved forest path that leads directly to the starting point. Because under the chair lift you get back to the beginning of the trail.
