The numbers alone - approx. 145 km and approx. 2,400 meters difference in altitude - inspire awe. But if you don't chase after success, but approach the tour with the necessary composure, you can enjoy the grandiose mountains of the Chiemgau Alps National Park and the Berchtesgaden National Park. In order not to prolong the already long tour even more, various main roads were included. The experienced racing cyclist should be able to deal with traffic and therefore this variant does not pose any problems worth mentioning.
