Mühlau - Ramsental - Ramsensteig - Hochplatte summit - Piesenhausener Hochalm - Mühlau

Starting from the Dalsen car park in Mühlau, follow a piece of the forest road until it forks. Here you turn right in the direction of “Hochplatte” and walk uphill on the tarred road. At the end of the street keep to the left and walk towards an enclosure towards the forest.

The footpath leads us to a wide forest road, on which we turn briefly to the right, only to leave it on the left after only a few meters. The now steeper path leads to a beautiful alpine pasture which we pass on the right. The footpath, marked by red markings, runs through a light forest up to a ridge. On the Waldsattel you will come across a sign. However, you do not follow this in the direction of “Hochplatte”, but go straight up the unmarked path. The path is marked with a blue point and is the direct ascent to the high plateau. Thanks to the steep ascent, you soon reach the summit of the high plateau, which rewards every hiker with a unique view.

Then you descend the wide path towards “Chiemsee”, which ends on an alpine road. After a left turn, this leads in the direction of “Piesenhauser Hochalm”.

After a short descent, turn left and follow the signs to “Mühlau” from here. You go over narrow footpaths to a flat forest saddle until the well-known path is.
